The Bicentennial was over. Boy! Was it over! There was nothing to do but sit down and wait for the Tricentennial. And then along came the first legitimate frost-bitten solid gold in the modern history of Houston — a fall complete with New England Clichés. Some said a new ice age was beginning — but it was beautiful.

Autumn

After that marvelous burst of autumn color the world became a depressing sea of cold mud fringed by rotting mildew — and stayed that way. Escaping the clammy vista of gloom was easy, though — we simply went indoors at

THE DOME!

We turned out the whole "ball of wax" — The Rebelettes, the Band, the Spirit Club — everyone in uniform and everyone that could carry a flag. And it was a blast.

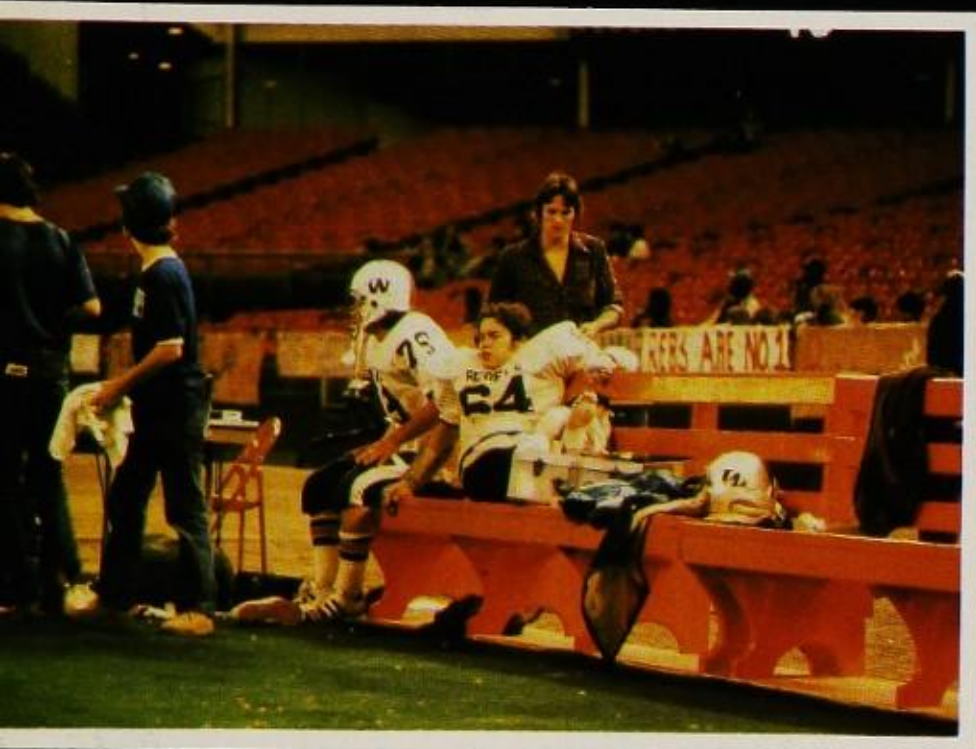

There was a game on. But we got caught up in the pageantry — the sheer that always seems to be there in the Eighth Wonder of the World. For a while it almost seemed that we belonged there. We were ahead in the ball game. We were giving the concession stands fits. We were prancing and strutting. We were all looking good.

We lost the game. But we lived

The Dream.

*When it was over we went home and rejoined the real world.
It was the beginning of winter.*

▲ Stephanie Kuypers strides to cafeteria fate in Russian garb.

▲ Shelley Fox huddles in army coat. Inside purse is emergency supply of jalapeno peppers.

▲ Bonnie Oehme, Anita Sloan, Cleavy McKnight, Michele Murphy, and Cary Lacobee warm themselves over discarded chili burgers in cafeteria trash can.

▲ Peter Merwin and Becky Bain sing "Button Up Your Overcoat" in frostbitten classroom.

Meanwhile, in an exhibition of climate control nonpareil, the HISD greeted by making sure the temperature inside matched the temperature outside. It was the coldest winter Westbury ever saw, and around school that meant heavy coats worn all day long. Eventually, the plant engineers took the upper hand, however, and we weathered the storm.

Blue Northers

And then it was Spring suddenly, and that is when Westbury students trek

Down To The Sea

*to re-acquaint themselves with the elements they associate with summer. The familiar sea creatures probably recognize Westbury students as familiar land creatures!
But it's that first cold probe of the surf — when you're still kidding yourself — that makes it special.*

▲ Johnathan Livingston Seagull and pals cavort at Galveston.

Harvey the Sand Dollar sogs at Surfside

▲ Becky Bain attempts to make bikini out of a bad situation.

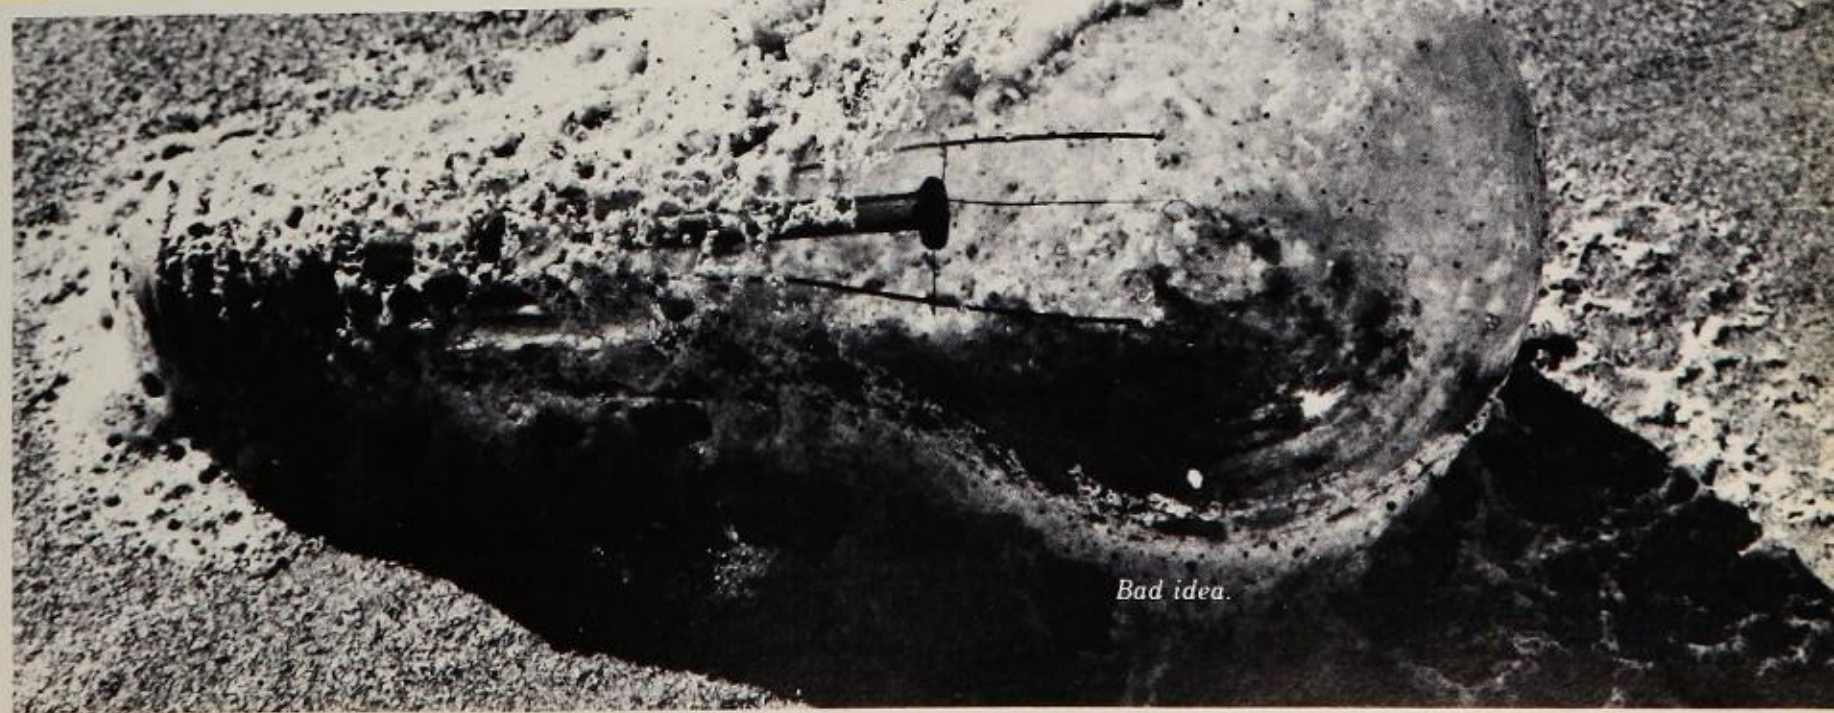

▲ Mid-air collision by balmy birds.

▲ Peter Merwin, inspired by flamingo, feels for feather stubs.

▲ Conduct grade, airborne.

Bad idea.

Although we were still in school — all caught up in English and science and math, we had our weekends in the sun. We ebbed

Back to Summer

and to all the things we had left behind when we returned to school in the fall. We found that we had grown.

▲ Joni Lewis and Stacey Kamine, well done.

Tony Yepes cleans his glass eye which has been retrieved from errant fish. ▲

▲ Roger Willhite downs passer-by who tries to help him find his white cane.

▲ Jarrett Munro! And only a sophomore, for heaven's sake!
And Cinda Brett!

▲ Gene Pate, Martha Dunn, and Lisa Romeo with captured enemy land vehicle. The idea is to take the jeep and drive madly up and down the beach trying to hit people.

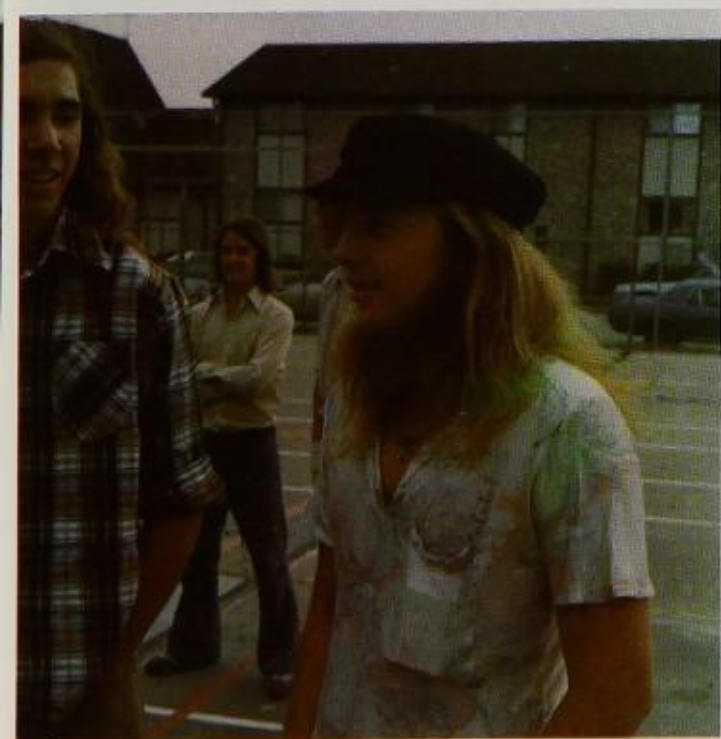

STUDENT

LIFE

The seasons passed and took their tolls, all right, and along the way certain special days, outstanding events, and general trends flashed by.

Business As Usual

It was special faces that made all the difference. In September everyone showed up tan and enthusiastic, ready for football, classes, and the social whirl. Soon the tans faded with the enthusiasm, and people started waiting for release. Along the way Citadel stopped the action and recorded it for posterity. Oh, we had the games, Homecoming, dances, shows, parties, holidays, celebrations, and finally graduation — matters of routine. But this time, perhaps for the last time, it was you. Remember?

The Homecoming festivities began with a watered-down version of Bellaire Week!

There was no violence this year, but a streaker did his thing at the Hager Park rally. We settled for a facsimile of the Scarlet Cluck — we rolled our own!

▲ The moment arrives.

▲ Difficult congratulations.

Then on Saturday night, after much suspense and anticipation, the actual took place. The queen was Jamie Jones, and everyone tried to do her bidding: it didn't rain, we won the game, and a good time was had by all. Particularly sweet was the 19-0 victory over the Scarlet Clucks of Bellaire. All things combined to make it a night worth coming home to.

Crowning

The Drama Department and the Chorus got together early this year and staged the musical to contribute to the general merriment of the Christmas season. The story was of course the same old wonderful thing — complete with Marley's ghost, Tiny Tim, and a street full of merry-makers.

musical than the Broadway version, for a few extra songs, and dances were added.*

The Home Economic Department in a brazen attempt to teach people to get staged mock weddings all year long. Students learned how the knot is tied, indoors and outdoors, formally, "till death do us part."

Few worried about the supposed modern threat to the institution itself — they just dressed up and got married, and then went home single and lived happily ever after.

THE social event of the year for the Rebelettes is the Plantation Ball,

a formal dance held this year at the Houston Club. The band was called "The Second Coming", but nothing terribly cataclysmic happened — except, of course, "the moment of truth" when every Senior Rebelette very publicly kissed. Nobody knows exactly why, but the Seniors go to a great deal of trouble and expense to costume themselves in outlandish, often devilish garb. It is theorized that the creatures are trying to look the way they feel.

Everybody was dressed up for the except the band. The band was loud, however, so nobody really minded. There was a medieval theme to the affair, and for the most part, chivalry prevailed throughout the evening. Of course, Virginia Colletti was the queen, and David Hoyt was the king, but nobody could hear it announced. It was all done at the Marriott in grand style: a beautiful, warm, expensive evening of fun.

A couple of photographers managed to infiltrate the headquarters of the

and shoot the team's covert activities. Few of Westbury's students were able to see the team at all this year. A few Rebelettes, two or three cheerleaders, and the Coaches were the only people with the Top Security Clearance necessary to watch the J.V. games. Relying on these unimpeachable sources, the Citadel found that the team ended their season with a 3-6-1 record. The same highly-placed sources promise a more noteworthy season next year.

There was order in the courtroom this year, unfortunately due to lack of spectators. The few loyal and/or rabid fans that did show up were witnesses to a 9 and 5 D.A. (District Action) record for the team. The fans saw the coaches approach the bench to provide counsel during a tourney. By the time the docket was cleared of trials and tribulations, the team had a 6-6 regular season record, and a 17-17 record for the year. Judging from the attendance, the Citadel finds Westbury's students guilty of Apathy in the First Degree. The sentence: compulsory attendance next year.

1977 was a good year for the team. The team finished Third in District with a 10-5-1 record. Perhaps the season's highlight was a 7-4 upset victory over Belaire. Individual team members also had some outstanding achievements. Doug Watson pitched two no-hit games, and made the All District First Team. First Baseman Mike Horn led the team in hitting, and made the All District Second Team.

Overall, this year's

team did a fine job, finishing Fifth in District. Relay teams and individuals also did well in District competition. The Sprint Relay team was 3rd, and the Mile Relay team was 4th. Jack White placed 3rd in the 220, and Barry Rosette was 5th in the same event. Tim Navarre was 6th in the 880. Jim Trackwell was 4th in the High Jump, and Jimmy Secrist was 6th in that event. Fred Trackwell placed 3rd in the Shotput, and Gerald Gusset was 5th in the Pole Vault.

team performed well. At the District meet, Linda Earls placed 1st in the Shotput and 2nd in the Discus; Carol Grant was first in the Triple Jump; and Denise Rison was third in the Mile. At Regionals, the Relay team was first, and Carol Grant placed 3rd in the 440 and 4th in the Triple Jump. All in all, a job well done.

Defeating Sharpstown and Madison in practice meets added more feathers to Westbury's collective cap. Take a bow, girls.

teams, puttered around all year, holding club meetings and getting teed off. In District competition, the Girls' team finished second, while the Boys finished third. The Boys also placed third in Round-Robin play. Kevin Eger was first in District, and Martha Bannister was third. The Girls advanced to Regionals, where they placed seventh.

Almost every picture you see in the Faculty

section is a singular miracle. Each photo reached its position on the page after traversing the most diabolical obstacle course ever imagined. Photographers — some blind, some crass, some ignorant, some unlucky, and some just plain crazy — approached teachers — some rude, some cruel, some mildly uncooperative, and some evidently hiding from the FBI — and shot pictures: some out of focus, some grainy, some muddy, and some just plain *?&%! At one point the staff threatened to use pictures of innocent animals, but scrapped the plan because of pressure from the Houston Zoo and the H.S.P.C.A.

ORGANIZ

adel

ATIONS

The prime pre-requisite for membership in

National Honor Society

is grades: good grades and lots of them — grades from major works classes in all fields. Westbury's group started raising money in August with car washes, and with the money they sponsored College Day, October 1. In October there was a bake sale at Meyerland, in November sophomore orientation, in January induction of new members. The group helped with the Easter Seal telethon, and later wrapped up the year's activities with a banquet at Kaphan's in May.

▲ President, Andy Hathcock; V.P., Melinda Smith.

▲ Nancy Lowe.

▲ Mr. Guptun and Maureen Leverenz.

▲ Bottom: David Overcashier, Valinda Bolton, Carrie Gibbons, Nancy Lowe, Carmen Kamas, Susan Bullock, Christine Smith, Cynthia Clifton. Top: Mrs. Shaw, Steve McCulley, Gene Hawkins, Mary Howard, Dan Ayre, Andy Hathcock, Lois Worchl, Melinda Smith, Maya Badachhape, Keith Gibbons, Nancy Stewert, Mike Ebbert, Alka Gupta, Janeen Judah, Carol Loftus, Mindy Yount, Carolyn Gasset, Jane Pearson, Georgia Hodges, Jennifer Charlton, Kelly Bull.

As usual, the year was a busy one for Anchor Club.

Around Halloween, members visited Texas Children's Hospital in costumes. For Thanksgiving they collected baskets of food for needy families. With the Key Club they had a progressive dinner. For Homecoming there was a mum sale. Members visited a nursing home periodically to lend aid and companionship to senior citizens. The annual banquet was on May 17.

Kiwanis International's Westbury men's organization is called and works as a service organization. The group sponsored many activities throughout the year: on the light side, a faculty-/football varsity basketball game; on the serious side, Christmas food baskets for the needy. There was a frivolous football game with the Bellaire Key Club, and there were useful projects like cleaning cemeteries, teaching cerebral palsy victims to swim, and collecting re-cyclable materials. As a fund raiser the group sold grapefruit on one occasion. They held regular dinner meetings at Wyatt's, and in April a banquet with Anchor Club. Along with other clubs, Key Club helped with the National School Board Convention.

Key Club

Westbury's math club, an honorary society sponsored by Mrs. Cramer and Mr. Dunkin, is called Mu Alpha Theta.

This year was an exceptional one for the group in that in six math contests it took more trophies than ever before. Stanley Shebs personally accounted for much hardware — more than anyone at Westbury ever has. The group's banquet was held at the Athena Greek Restaurant.

Mr. Mitchell's mob, known to all as

French National Honor Society,

spent the year doing very French cultural things: like eating out at the St. Michel Restaurant, and seeing plays like Rhinoceros and The Imaginary Invalid (French authors, of course.) The main idea was: think French! An occasional guillotining was necessary.

Probably the eatingest group on campus this year was the

Spanish National Honor Society

which logged trips to Los Tios (2), Goodtime Charley's, Empanada House, and a Monterrey House. And they didn't go for hamburgers, either! It is assumed that they spoke Spanish and had Roloids for dessert. Oh yes! they painted Room 223, too.

The major project of the 1976-77
Interact Club

was the painting of the cafeteria, a feat which was accomplished only after a squabble with student bureaucrats over the colors. The group served the people of nursing homes in projects early in the year, and the members worked as volunteers at the National School Board Convention later in the year. In May there was a beach party in celebration of another fine year of service.

The main purpose of Westbury's
Christian Student Union

is to provide Christians on campus with a place and time for fellowship. Activities this year included an all-night prayer meeting with other C.S.U. groups, caroling at Christmas, and sponsoring Eternity, a singing group from Florida. Weekly morning meetings included song and prayer.

Raising money for the Senior Prom was the main reason for the existence of the Senior Cabinet.

The group sponsored fund-raising projects too numerous to mention, and they arranged special events from Homecoming through Senior Week. The hardest part was the collection of Senior Dues.

Always in the thick of things of importance in the school, the Student Council

was responsible for numerous elections and major events. They coordinated Homecoming — from the elections to the dance — and they sponsored the Blue Ball. They conducted polls, made decisions, provided entertainment, and even sold po-boys! In the spring they found a set of speakers big enough to cause brain damage and piped music through the annex.

It was a turbulent year for everyone concerned with Westbury's least honored, most voluminous publication, Citadel.

Cramped somewhat by the loss it took on the Bicentennial yearbook, the staff cautiously approached the 1976-77 book with an eye to economy. The members decided to economize on work: nobody worked unless it was necessary, and then only at the very last minute. The early deadlines were reached on time, but in May the process broke down. It took day and night drudgery to make up for the goofing off that became habitual earlier in the year. The cooperation of the faculty was something the staff learned to live without. Mr. Dunkin was often helpful with photography, but nobody but NOBODY volunteered to get out in front of the camera. The most ridiculous people to get along with were the prima donnas — the popular kids who want to be on every page of the book but refuse to pose for pictures. "We're mad as hell, and we won't take it any more." (This was written during a heavy deadline. Not to worry.)

One of the most desperate groups on campus operated from Room 119 and produced Westbury's monthly newspaper,

The Rebel Yell.

Once technicians found out how to please Bertha, a hissing, snarling press locked in a closet on the third floor, the task of turning out a prize-winning newspaper was merely impossible — no longer lethal. Students learned that with a newspaper there is only the fight — always the fight. There is no end. Members informed the UIL that The Rebel Yell is here to stay — and Westbury is glad.

It was another Rebellious year for Rebel Guards —

Westbury's answer to the P.L.O. They were not able to capture the Scarlet Cluck this year, but taking inspiration from the Democrats, they created a reasonable facsimile of the bird and nerded all over it, climaxing in the first annual Bird Burning Party. In moments of weakness they sponsored "Kaleidoscope in Sound" and helped the Rebelettes usher at the Rodeo. They even sent flowers to Mr. Washington and Mr. Pepper who were out with illnesses. Capping the year, Brad Freels and Pete Bellos stowed away on the Rebelette bus — back in character at last.

Rebelettes

Two weeks before school started the 76-77 Rebelettes were already hard at work. Much of the football season was rained out, but under the leadership of Laura Heide, they outdid themselves by performing superb precision drills. The football season was highlighted this year by the "Astrodome Game." The annual Football Banquet was a complete success. They represented Westbury in the annual Thanksgiving Day Parade. The Rodeo, once again, asked the Rebelettes to usher at the Astrodome. The Plantation Ball was held April 2, and everyone had a good time. The annual Senior trip was taken during the month of April and it was a trip no senior will ever forget. Thanks to the Cooperation of parents, sponsor, and Rebelettes . . . the year was a successful one.

Staff

This year, the Rebelette Staff was headed by Jackie Dinnean.

Among several money-making projects, such as heading the sales of candles, candy and ads, they managed to publish the school's directory, the Rebel Roll Call. The Staff also planned and made the decorations for the annual Plantation Ball. It was held at the Houston Club and was enjoyed by the Rebelettes and their dates.

School spirit at Westbury High School is organized and "required" by the Spirit Leaders who attend all the games and help cheer up the team. The main event of their year is the traditional Spring Sports Banquet, which has them holding bake and candy sales all year.

This year a movie, "The Other Side of the Mountain," helped "get them over the hump."

Football season just would not be the same without the Spirit Club.

This group, sponsored by Mrs. Preston and led by the eight Spirit Leaders, presented a maximum of spirit at each game and had fun doing it. Of course, they needed money for the big event of the year, the Spring Sports Banquet, so there were fund raising projects galore.

Although nobody knows much about it, there is an organization called which dramatically illustrates what can be done with great imagination and very little work. The members imagine all kinds of things to do and do very little about them: they planned to see "The Runner Stumbles," but stumbled; they planned to have a formal initiation of new members, then an informal initiation, and then an imaginary initiation — none of which materialized. They planned to have their pictures taken at Houlihan's, and that didn't work either.

The speech mob, organized under the title

N.F.L.

(National Forensic League), spent the year competing in speech tournaments and tougher still, hosting speech tournaments. Three major meets were held here at Westbury, and the members deserve medals for their work in this area. However, the hardware came from tournaments in which they competed: eleven people to State, Keith Gibbons to National, Sweepstakes at District — trophies down to the last week of school. Six debaters were offered scholarships at Baylor. Instead of a banquet, the group had a three day trip to Galveston in May.

somewhat hoarse in their few off-stage moments. "Scrooge"

time, and the musical this year was "Annie, Get Your Gun." In

May there was the Spring

"Gong Show." Items from these shows were "toured" for Big nursing homes. Innumerable hours of rehearsal — day and night — kept the spirits and the quality up.

Westbury's Chapter of

O. E. A.

This association provided food baskets for the needy on Thanksgiving and Christmas brunch for the faculty. In April there was the annual employer/employee banquet and the beginning of recruitment for the next year. The local, state, and national contests occupied the entire spring. The National O. E. A. convention was held in the Astrodome.

Although '76-'77 members of our unit found themselves severed from all formal support from H.I.S.D., under the leadership of Captain Edward Jablonski they managed to maintain their unit here at Westbury and have a very active year. Despite the inconvenience of having to travel all the way to Lee High School every day which cut membership to only the most dedicated, the unit was upgraded from a local N.D.C.C. (National Defense Cadet Corps) to a full-fledged J.R.O.T.C. (Junior Division Reserve Officer's Training Corps) unit. They served as guards for the Rebellettes at football games, were present during notorious Bellaire Night, and performed several color guard duties. This year's rifle team placed third in district, and Westbury cadets greatly helped to make Lee number one in the district in number of individual awards won.

There is no censorship at Westbury High School. We sent this out to have it censored. There's this little catering service over on Post Oak . . . Anyway, we had to do it, because the activities of the Westbury's new political party, the directed their way into the minds of many and the dorms of others. Houlahan's, Pizza Inn, Godwin Park, and the castmobile, the "Gray Ghost" hosted the irregular Cast Parties. Results from these parties included deep psychological recessions, an intense study of Don Juan, Daylight Savings Time, clean glove compartments, and the turning of a rear view mirror. The Producers and Directors of the entire Cast made such an impact on society that businesses have decided to follow the Cast system.

Cast Party

The highest honor that can come to a Westbury High School student is the

W. L. Burns Award.

The award, named for the first principal of Westbury High, is given each year to the top student in each of thirteen scholastic categories. The speaker at this year's awards ceremony was Erwin Heinen of the school board. The trophies, replicas of the perpetual trophy situated in the foyer in front of the auditorium, are the most cherished mementos Westbury students can own.

▲ Mr. Heinen, the School Board Member, was the guest speaker.

This spread is dedicated to the dedicated. The students on these pages were all — yes all ranked Number One. That means that their work in high school came down to one word: perfect. So it is ironic that these people know, perhaps better than those whose grades were not so high, that they really possess only the beginnings of knowledge. The very students these people have beaten all these years go forth into the world feeling a lot smarter than the people pictured on these pages. Stare at them a while.

The Rebel Yell conducted a survey during the last weeks of school to determine Who was considered What by Whom. Their results were absolutely startling, so we decided to pass them along. Full credit goes to Rebel Yell for coming up with this year's

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES.

▲ They told these Aggies to bag everything. Michael Hartley, David Marshall, Cees Keus, Rick McIver.

▲ A bird in the grass, found by Senior clean-up crew.

The end of the term, the wind-up, the last gasp, the final struggle — whatever you called it, the end of school year 1976-77 proved one thing about school:

It's a Cycle —
every end is a beginning, everything new is old. We cleaned up, painted up, patched up, and then closed up. Renewal was all around us as we ended the year. We found new living things while cleaning up garbage.

▲ Step right up: three shots for a quarter.

I drew a blank.

▲ Creating toothpick.

Mike Kendrix, Biology Student.

▲ No, they just call it a manhole cover. Lee Thordarson and Paula Smith.
You be nice and I'll get you down. ▼

Bring me your buck knife, Joe Bob. I got me a splinter.

▲ Dixie cup. It figures. Paula Schwartz.

Senior Week taught another valuable lesson: our officially certified, bona fide, terribly had a lot in common with children. As if clinging to the last irresponsible moments of their lives, the Seniors lived their last Westbury Fling. Then they stood up and stepped into the real world ...

Legal Adults

▲ David Hoyt, Emily Wakeman, Jan DeLong, Jackie Dinnean and Tan, Boyce.

▲ All the Jets again. Ho hum.

▼ Dan Ayre, Pam Triolo, Maya Body Chops again.

▲ Cathy Doyle

Chick and tired, Jan Enlow.

▼ Jimmy Hale.

▲ Steve Lewis and Ellen Otto undercover.

▲ Martha Bannister and Becky Bain.

▲ Jennifer Charlton, Nancy Lowe, Carmen Kamas, Kathy Bubela.

▼ The Best of David Harpole.

▲ Gene Pate and Brad Freels, forever.

... and the world was ready for them.
